The American Library in Paris
Project 100 Funding Opportunities

As the American Library in Paris nears its centennial, we are launching an ambitious campaign in order to bring your vision of the Library of the future into being. Building upon the Library's past successes, Project 100 will mark the next exciting era of this august institution. Whatever the Library means to you, you can be a part of creating the Library of the future, for our current community and beyond.

Ways to contribute to Project 100:

- Gift by check, credit card, or wire transfer.
- Multiple-year pledge: You can pledge a gift that is contributed over a period of 3-5 years
- Gift of stocks, bonds, or mutual funds: Giving appreciated securities (held more than one year) can be a tax-efficient way to contribute. If you are a U.S. taxpayer, you will not owe capital gains taxes and will receive a tax deduction for the appreciated value of the securities (of any type, including stocks, bonds or mutual funds).

The American Library in Paris is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization and an organisme d'intérêt général for French tax purposes. All contributions are tax-deductible to the full extent allowed by law and will be acknowledged with a tax receipt.

Please contact the Library's advancement coordinator Morgan Wurzburger at wurzburger@americanlibraryinparis.org about other ways to give.
